California Elephant Garlic (5 Cloves)	Elephant Garlic	Big – Bigger – Bigger yet – and biggest bulbs are not garlic but a leek. On average 5 cloves per head from what we bring in from California. A milder taste profile, which has been associated with roasting forever. Many of these bulbs grow 4 inches across in size.
Marbled Purple Stripe (5-8 Cloves)	Svea	A contender for best discovery for sure. Strong hot garlic, 5-8 cloves often with lots of red to purple colour on skin and clove wrappers, depending on the winter. Lots of fat cloves like Music and Norquay. The “chunky tuna” of the porcelain world. Thrives in cold climates; a great choice for those in cold winter areas. Easily produces on par with any porcelain.
Porcelain (4-7 Cloves)	Music	A very cold hardy plant, described as slightly spicy, with a porcelain fructose flavor. Here in “the idea of North” it is the most common, and essentially “The Staple” garlic variety. Easy to grow, it produces between 4 and 7 big-ass easy to peel cloves per bulb. Most years with shiny-white outer sheath and some pink to brown tinged clove skins, depending on the season.
	Norquay	Big Boy - Big Gurr! Garlic, with regards to neck size, plant size and bulb size. 4-7 larger cloves with mostly one in the middle extra. White skin, lighter to a light rose clove wrapper, and the porcelain high fructose flavor profile, with all the winter ready attributes of porcelains. Matches the tune of Music in every way.
Purple Stripe (8-12 Cloves)	Jachlo	Vigorous good sized robust intense purple bulbs, collected in Eastern Europe. Outer skins bursting with purple colour. The wrapped cloves retain the light chocolate - violet colouring of the outer wrappers. Flavour said to be fiery but with a mellow and smooth aftertaste. 8-12 cloves. Ready to rock through winter. Every year we grow a bit more! A contender for best yield.
Rocamboles (8-12 Cloves)	Legacy	Generally, it is said to make lips quiver more than other hard necks. The bulb will produce 3-4 larger white skinned clove among the 8-12 on the bulb. Depending on soil type a reddish brown, to purple brown clove skin underneath. Matures slightly at odds with porcelain, lower to the ground squatter plant.
